

TALKING TOGETHER

DEFINING MEANINGFUL ENGAGEMENT

This is a conversation about how governments and Yukoners talk together in ways that make us stronger, more accountable, transparent and responsive to each other. It's about talking to citizens, stakeholders and communities about how we interact with them.

We believe a meaningful engagement process needs to uphold and deliver on the following commitments:

WE WILL BE TRANSPARENT AND CLEAR

We will create easily accessible processes for engagement and we will tell people our intentions when we engage the public.

WE WILL RECOGNIZE AND VALUE THE UNIQUE CONTRIBUTION OF OUR PARTICIPANTS

We will demonstrate care and respect for participants, recognizing that they have valuable, relevant knowledge and experience to contribute.

WE WILL BE INCLUSIVE

We will be accessible to a broad range of voices and when we don't hear a voice, we will seek it out.

WE WILL BE ACCOUNTABLE AND ACT WITH INTEGRITY

We will be clear about the goal of the public engagement and how public input will be considered in our decision-making.

WE WILL BUILD SKILLS

We will help Yukoners to have conversations about complex topics in a productive way, and we will help government staff build their public engagement skills.
